The 7 Lights of Conscious Therapy

What is The 7 Lights of Conscious Therapy?

It is a complex and painless method for discovering the causes of problems in any area of our life and cleaning these causes on a conscious and unconscious level. Our life consists of seven areas that affect our well-being: physical, intellectual, emotional, social, financial, spatial, and spiritual environment.

How does therapy work?

The therapy combines techniques from official medicine and Ayurveda, herbalism, knowledge from psychology, hypnosis, and quantum physics, which leads us to our inner source of strength through guided meditation. After each therapy, we receive clear instructions and tasks that help us to quickly apply the information we have received in our everyday life and thereby significantly improve our well-being and condition.

What is the purpose of therapy?

Therapy gives us new insights into the factors behind our problems - so we can make better decisions and ensure better outcomes for: our health, finances, relationships, autonomy, work, connection, and responsibility. Therapy helps us develop a new outlook on life. During therapy, our inner strength and self-confidence are activated, we learn about our hidden talents and skills.

How long does the treatment take?

One therapy lasts from 4-6 hours, and the number of repetitions depends on the area where we have the most problems. Usually, two to three therapies are sufficient, if desired and in case of severe problems in the field of physical health, family relationships and financial problems, more therapies or more intensive therapies can be done.

What is the goal during and after therapy?

During the therapy, the body is relaxed, and the mind is brought into a state of so-called »super memory«. The goal of therapy is to connect the client to this hidden power and teach them how to use it to improve their life, their health, their relationship, their wealth, and their overall well-being. We all have this power, it makes us alive, healthy, creative, successful, beautiful, compassionate, caring, fulfilling and happy.
